County struggles with budget cuts

by Jerry Grozelle

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, planning and various departments felt the sharp edge of the budget knife Wednesday. Members of the Haliburton County Council gathered March 1 to make some preliminary cuts to this years requirements.

Department heads were on hand to present their budget proposals and answer questions from council members.

Following the presentations, council went into committee of the whole to discuss salaries or personnel matters briefly, before breaking for lunch.

At 1:30 p.m. council reconvened and opened the meeting for public input. While the meeting had been advertised, there was no one in audience to comment on expenditures by the county.

Discussions around the table centred on ways of trimming the various budgets to reduce any potential increase in county taxes. If the draft budget had been accepted as presented, it would have meant an increase of 7.35 per cent.

Chamber funding slashed

In addition to the department heads, Brian Dean, president of the Chamber of Commerce, attended to outline the organization's proposed budget.

The chamber received $50,000 from the county last year and Dean hoped to increase that amount to $90,000 in 1995.

He outlined what the chamber has planned for the coming year, which included the hiring of a full-time manager.

Chamber membership stands at 270 businesses.

Dean pointed out that the chamber has been, "more active in 1994 than ever before." He said that the chamber is taking a more professional approach to promoting Haliburton County.

"There are no more dog and pony shows," he said. "We don't do that any more."

Dean said that one of the major efforts of the chamber last year was to keep the snowmobile trails open. He said that the chamber is "stepping up to a totally different level" in terms of Haliburton Highlands tourism marketing.

He said that the chamber helps to bring in $20 to $30 million in tourist dollars to the county each year.

He added that the chamber's mandate is to become a self-sufficient organization within the next three to five years.

After a lunch break, council discussed the chamber's proposal and there were mixed feelings, with the exception of one detail. Almost everyone on council agreed that there was no way the county could afford to support the chamber request for $90,000.

There was some concern expressed that the chamber really doesn't service the entire county and that the two main beneficiaries of the chamber's efforts might be asked to contribute a larger share of the funding. Those two municipalities are Dysart et al and Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe said: "They have been saying they are going to be self-sufficient since I was first on council 14 years ago."

Stanhope Deputy Reeve Eleanor Harrison agreed with Howe, but she added: "They are the only marketing group for the county, whether we like it or not."

Cardiff Deputy Reeve Doug Holman suggested that the request for $90,000

Hospital begins 3 week closure

For the first time in its forty year history, the Minden hospital is closed to acute care patients.

While the nine acute care beds are closed, the emergency department is operational between 8 a.m. and 12 midnight during the week and 24 hours a day during the weekend.

The three week closure of the acute care beds is a measure undertaken by St. Joseph's Hospital to help reduce the hospital's deficit. The hospital beds were officially closed at midnight Friday night and will remain unoccupied until midnight March 23. The early spring closure was selected by the hospital board because it was traditionally a period of low utilization. As it turned out, according to interim director Lynn Johnson, when the staff began the task

Architect backs need for new Haliburton school

by Andrew Milne

Reports from administration regarding the proposed closure of the Victoria Street Elementary School, presented at the February 28 board of education meeting, say that moving the student population of the school to the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School would have no negative effects on the student program.

An architect retained to estimate the cost of renovating the school as opposed to building an addition at JDHSES, endorsed the earlier recommendation of the architect that the old building be abandoned for use as a school.

Members of the public raised a number of concerns at the February 14 meeting of the management committee, specifically that the safe, nurturing atmosphere experienced at Victoria Street School be preserved, and that community activities such as skating at the arena continue.

Furthermore, several members of the public said they wanted to see the board get an estimate of the cost of renovations before they go ahead with the

Fish weighs in at $1000/lb.

15 year old Chris Robinson, the son of Doug and Joanne Robinson of Minden is $5,000 richer thanks to a five pound lake trout. The catch was the largest in the Red Umbrella Inn Ice Fishing Derby held Saturday on Twelve Mile Lake.

Chris was among over 300 anglers who took part in this second annual tournament.

The Times will have a complete story and photos in next week's edition.

Chamber, planning take major cuts

may have been inflated in the hope of warding off a cutback and maintaining last year's level of funding.

"We have to force them into becoming self-sufficient," he said.

Howe posed the question: "Should the chamber not be driven by the business community?"

Another argument was whether the county should be supporting a private organization at all.

Warden Ross Rabjohn pointed out that other counties have marketing departments that handle promotion.

In support of the chamber, Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon informed her peers that Muskoka, which is a major competitor with Haliburton for tourist dollars, is building a million-dollar facility for its chamber of commerce.

"The chamber of commerce has been making great strides," Snowdon Reeve George Simmons added. "Maybe we should be giving them some direction... providing an incentive system to help them attract new members."

Minden Deputy Reeve Lewis Stevens suggested that perhaps the chamber should become involved in attracting economic development as well as tourism to Haliburton County.

In the end, Dysart Deputy Reeve Bill Davis suggested the chamber be given $30,000. The motion was seconded by Holman, and when the vote was taken, the motion was carried by an 8-6 margin.

In his draft budget, county administrator Terry Noble had pencilled in $50,420 as the chamber's funding, the same amount as the past two years. Council's reduced support meant $20,420 would be slashed from the overall budget.

Strategic Plan budget axed

Another $10,000 was trimmed by eliminating that amount which had been earmarked for a strategic plan.

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey suggested that since $10,000 was budgeted for that purpose in 1994, and none of it was used, it may not be unreasonable to eliminate that funding, at least until such time as it is needed.

Anthon, a member of the strategic planning committee, and a very vocal supporter of the development of a strategic plan for the county, was less than thrilled at the prospect of losing that funding. In spite of the setback, she made it clear that she intends to do what she can to develop a strategic plan.

"There's no reason we can't still have meetings," she said.

Other cuts

The general government budget had been set at $310,888 and it was felt that could be cut to $300,000.

Social services had included a special assistance fund of $6,000 for children's special needs. Morris Honeyman explained that such a provision was not made last year but that almost $6,500 had been spent on such needs in 1993.

It was pointed out that the county's service clubs have been doing an excellent job of helping out in this area. Council decided to cut that $6,000 in anticipation of continued support from those organizations.

$2,000 was trimmed from the library budget.

The roads department and Hyland Crest draft budgets, two of the largest expenditures for which the county is responsible for, have been sent to their respective committees for more number crunching before the final figures are submitted.

One proposal in the roads budget was to transfer $160,000 from the equipment reserves to take up some slack in other areas. The consensus appeared to be that the department's machinery is in good condition, with no anticipated need for replacements or major repairs in the immediate future.

Council expects to pass the budget at the March 15 meeting.

It looks like the "ground hog" was right again. Six more weeks of winter. Now let's see if the "lamb and the lion" theory will hold true to form. March 1 was bright and sunny most of the day--that is March came in like a lamb. Will it go out like a lion?

February this year, believe it or not, was almost a carbon copy of last year. Just look at the numbers. The monthly low temperature was not quite as low as last year and we have a bit less snow on the ground this year. This month we had 13 days when the temperature was colder than -18 C (0F). In 1994, the mercury dipped below this on 17 days. But let's think warm. We now have that March sun and every day it feels a bit warmer.

Mares' Tails: Clouds are classified according to their height above the ground, high, middle or low, and whether they produce precipitation. High clouds generally have bases above 18,000 feet. They are white and thin and form delicate veil-like patches or extended wispy fibres and often have a feathery appearance. Cirrus clouds (one of three principal high-altitude clouds) are composed almost exclusively of ice crystals. Their fibrous appearance results from the wind "stretching" streamers of falling ice particles. The feathery strands of cirrus, called "Mares' Tails" often warn of the approach of a warm front marking the advance of a storm system. Be watchful and be safe.

Green light for safe house

There was doubly good news for the supporters of the Women's Emergency House project February 27.

Not only did the organization receive a sizable donation from the Haliburton United Church Women, but the board of directors gave the project an official go-ahead for this spring.

The donation of $1253.36 was raised by the group at its 1994 April luncheon.

According to the chair of the SIRCH board of directors, Jane Heyes, the board has decided to proceed with the project this spring. "We have been overwhelmed by the enthusiasm we have received from all over the county for this project," Heyes commented. She noted that the board had held off on giving the project the green light, because of the limited government assistance available. "We went over the figures with executive director Gina Robertson, and feel we can plan to go ahead with it." Construction is expected to begin in April and be completed later this summer. The excavation, foundation and framing will be done under contract, with volunteers completing the interior.

The home will be located on property provided by Steve Bowskill, behind the Hillside House, near the Haliburton arena. The house will be connected to Hillside House which contains SIRCH offices and a number of other social agencies. It will have three bedrooms, plus living quarters for the women and children who use it as their temporary home. Donations of furnishings, toys and other items are being accepted for the home.

Lunch money

Chair of the SIRCH board of directors, Jane Heyes, right, accepts a cheque for $1,253.36 from Haliburton United Church Women member Joan Brown. She was the co-ordinator of the April luncheon at which the funds were raised. Others on hand for the donation include, Ethel Galvin UCW vice president, Gail Goldenberg treasurer, and SIRCH community liaison, Susan Wilson, left.

Case made for JDH location

plan to move the students.

Responding to the former concerns, the administration's report stated essentially that, since the staff would be moving with the children, the characteristics associated with the school would not be lost in the move.

And the architect's report, prepared by Stewart Smith Architect Limited, reports that renovating the original four classroom structure and the two-classroom addition on the site, would cost around $560,000 and $122,000 respectively.

The architect also commented that the site is not amenable to the construction of a larger building of nine classrooms, as is planned at the JDHSES site.

The board voted to refer the reports back to the management committee.

The 70-year old Victoria Street facility has become something of a historic landmark to residents of the community, many of whom attended the school. It currently houses classes from kindergarten to grade two level.

Due to concerns related to safety and crowding at the facility, it has been proposed that the board discontinue use of it as a school, constructing instead an addition at nearby JDHSES, which currently houses grade levels three to eight.

New law firm

In other business, the board voted to change law firms.

Director of education Brad Saunders recommended to the board at their inaugural meeting after the municipal election that they consider doing so, because the firm used until this date, Hicks, Morley at al of Toronto, does much of the legal work for the Ontario Public School Board Association (OPSBA). The advice the board was receiving from them therefore, said Saunders, tended to lean in the direction of the association.

Three week closing begins

of emptying the beds on Wednesday of last week, all seven adult beds were full. Three were occupied by long-term care patients who were moved to respite beds in Lindsay and Haliburton. One acute care patient was transferred to Haliburton Hospital while the others were sent home with the provision of home-care nursing. Johnson said she was pleased with how smoothly the transfers occurred and the patients seemed comfortable in their new settings.

The hospital board hopes to save $25,000 by the three week closing in Minden. Combined with a similar amount expected to be generated when the Haliburton Hospital goes through an identical three week shut-down in November, the board hopes to generate $50,000 to offset an anticipated deficit of $200,000 at the two hospitals.

While the acute care beds may be empty, Johnson emphasized there is still nursing staff on duty around the clock. The hospital will be staffed by a Registered Nurse and Registered Nursing Assistant to respond to emergencies during the day. They remain on duty even when the emergency department is closed, between midnight and 8 a.m., to direct anyone who arrives at the hospital door to the nearest emergency department. During the time when the emergency department is "officially closed", the staff is also available to deal with emergencies which arrive at the hospital. (Likewise, local doctors have said they would respond to life-threatening emergencies at the Minden Hospital if called during the emergency department's closed period, midnight to 8 a.m. Sunday through Thursday.)

While things will no doubt be quieter at the Minden hospital, the staff will take the "down time" to catch up on paperwork and other jobs.

"We're hoping it will be an uneventful three weeks," Lynn Johnson stated as the week ended. "Our records show this is a traditionally quiet time of the year."

The hospital's acute care services return to full operational status at midnight on March 23.

Local Guides mark 85th anniversary

prepared by Faith Aggett

It was a busy week in Minden for those involved in the Guiding movement. February 19 to 25 was Thinking Week, a time for Guides of all ages to celebrate the special relationship they have through their involvement in the organization.

The week began with a winter weekend at Camp Adelaide for the two Minden Brownie groups. They enjoyed excellent weather for their outing and were joined by their little sisters, the Sparks, for a fun-filled Saturday.

A collection of Guiding material was on display at the Agnes Jamieson gallery during the week, including mementoes from the past and hand-crafts done by the girls.

On Wednesday February 22, the Minden Guiding Movement came together to celebrate 85 years of Guiding in Canada. The all-female party was attended by guests ranging in age from five years to one special guest, a former guide, Mary Busby, now in her 90's. Also attending were former Guiders Jeanne Anthon (Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve) and Shirley Warder. They shared some special memories with the group during the evening of games, songs and stories.

Brittany Prentice, Katie Cox and Heather McKelvey interviewed some of the participants and sought their opinions on the evening: "We had fun," replied one Spark; "The lighting of the cupcakes was my favourite part, commented a Brownie; "I liked the evening because we got together with everybody and played games," said a Guide; "I thought of Pathfinders all across Canada and around the world. What an awesome thought," a Pathfinder commented; "My famented.

A joint church service was held with the community's Boy Scout organization, at the Minden Bible Church, to complete the week of activities. It was a moving service in which the children participated by reading the scripture, singing and later enjoying the wonderful refreshments. Special thanks to the members of Minden Bible Church for sharing their place of worship with us.

In addition to the events in Minden, members of the Guiding movement throughout the Highland District, including Haliburton, Wilberforce and Gooderham, held events to mark the anniversary.

Cub Scout and Beaver leader Pauline Stevens chats with former Guide Mary Busby during the local Guide's celebration of the organization's 85th anniversary. Mary was joined by other former Guides at the special celebration.

ASES skippers raise $3000

Archie Stouffer Elementary School held its first Jump Rope For Heart event February 22. The event is an educational, fitness and fund-raising event, organized by the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario in schools across Canada.

By combining physical activity and fund-raising, students learn more about heart health, raise funds for heart and stroke research and health promotion, and have a good time while doing it.

The event at ASES was organized by Eva Griffith, Betty Mark and Lisa Kowaltschuk. More than 125 students from Grades 4 to 8 participated. The students practised for the event during lunch time, from the beginning of January.

"The enthusiasm has been tremendous," Griffith said. "The students skipped for two hours, stopping only for washroom and snack breaks."

Parent volunteers Bev Matysek, Linda Brandon, Jennifer McCrae, Debbie Greer, Cathy Shaw, Judy Johnson and Norine Malloy helped with food and timing.

Heart and Stroke volunteers, headed by Estella Burch, collected and counted money and provided receipts. A great number of student volunteers helped out by organizing equipment, timing, food and clean-up.

Dollo's IGA in Minden provided the juice for students and Glen Sharpley Sports in Haliburton provided the cookies.

The Jump Rope For Heart health and fitness program offers individual incentive prizes based on the funds raised and the school also has the opportunity to get back five per cent of the net raised by the students (after the deduction of individual incentive prizes).

"This year's event raised approximately $3,000 for heart and stroke research," Griffith said. "It was a great success."

The students appreciated the opportunity to participate in this fund-raising event.

"We'd really like to thank Mrs. Griffith for organizing this," said one student.

Burk's Falls: The closure of the hospital also meant the loss of the community's emergency department

The future of health care services in the Minden area is uncertain to say the least. In considering what lies ahead for the Minden Hospital, a number of people have used the closure of the hospital at Burk's Falls as a benchmark against which to contrast the situation here. The 18 bed hospital in that community of 900 was closed three years ago and the area is still adjusting to the changes that resulted. One of the most dramatic consequences was the loss of emergency services and the total dependence of the population on the emergency department at the Huntsville Hospital and the ambulance service which links the community with that facility.

When an emergency occurs, especially if it involves a loved one, an ambulance cannot arrive soon enough and a hospital can never be close enough. That is why the residents of the Burk's Falls area have felt a sense of unease since the emergency department disappeared from their community. That unease is heightened by the realization that the lack of service has had dire consequences for some members of their community.

According to a number of recommendations, the acute care facilities currently located at the Minden Hospital have been slated for relocation to the Haliburton Hospital. While plans are still not final, it has been suggested that the current emergency department would be replaced by an urgent care facility attached to a community health care centre similar to that which replaced the hospital in Burk's Falls. The Acting Health Services Board, a group of area residents mandated to decide which services will be located where in this restructuring process, have recommended that a 24 hour emergency service be maintained in Minden even after the acute care beds are relocated to the Haliburton site.

This week, in our third in a series of articles examining the impact of the closure of the Burk's Falls Hospital, Times reporter Andrew Milne considers what the loss of the hospital's emergency department has meant to the residents.

by Andrew Milne

On Highway 11, by the exit to Burk's Falls, the truck traffic pours by in a steady stream. The highway is the main thoroughfare between Toronto and North Bay, and it's busy. The Ministry of Transportation (MTO) reports the average annual daily total at the Burk's Falls exit is 6,300 vehicles per day. For comparison purposes, an average 5,250 vehicles per day pass the intersection of highways 35 and 121 south of Minden.

As on most busy highways, accidents happen there, often they are serious.

There is a macabre "joke" circulating among the local population that says, if you get seriously injured near Burk's Falls, don't bother calling an ambulance. Call a priest.

Burk's Falls is a small town (population around 900) 39 km north of Huntsville on Highway 11. Until March of 1992 it had a hospital.

It was a small facility — 18 beds — and like most small hospitals, the staff treated whoever walked in the door, providing they could handle the problem. Failing that, the patient was loaded into an ambulance (the station is right next door) and sent to Huntsville, perhaps accompanied by a doctor if the patient's condition was serious.

But in March of 1992, the Huntsville Hospital board, the organization responsible for the hospital since the Red Cross withdrew from the business in the mid-eighties, closed the Burk's Falls Hospital in an attempt to resolve its operating deficit.

The residents of Burk's Falls were told the closure would not create any problems.

First, a community health centre was opened in the village — in the old hospital building, as a matter of fact. The original vision for the centre was that it would marry the preventative medicine of a community health centre with the curative intervention of a small urgent care department to deal with the little cuts and bruises, and, should it be necessary, even more dangerous ailments. For various reasons, described in last week's article, this hasn't happened yet. The centre does provide preventative medicine. It does provide health counselling. What it doesn't provide is urgent care.

And right now it's hard now to say when, if ever, it is going to.

In any case, the residents were told an emergency department — the one in Huntsville, 39 km to the south, along with the ambulance to transport them—is available to meet their needs along with an ambulance to transport them.

But there are a few things about the ambulance service that leave the residents a little less than confident that this is enough.

Robert Lapere

As is often the case in such an issue, it was not the endless reports, statistics and studies that grabbed people's attention....it was one case — one rather dramatic case — in which the ambulances serving the area were slow to arrive.

This was the case of Robert Lapere.

Lapere is a sixteen year old resident of Novar, a small town roughly midway between Burk's Falls and Huntsville. His parents moved there in 1988, a few years before the closure of the hospital. Like many people moving to cottage country, they had vacationed in the area for years before making it their home.

On July 19, 1994, Robert and a companion had been canoeing on Fish Lake, near his home, a little more than a mile off Highway 11. On arriving back at the dock, Robert took the opportunity to jump in the lake to cool off.

But he tripped, and fell in head first.

When he surfaced, he wasn't moving.

His cousin Kenny Page, who was with him at the time, rolled him over, face-up, supporting him so he could breathe, and called for help. Fortunately, Page was trained in first aid, and guessed that Lapere's spine had been injured, and so was careful not to move him any more than was absolutely necessary to keep him breathing. Moving someone with a spinal injury can cause further damage to their spinal cord, the bundle of nerve fibers that runs from the brain to the rest of the body. Damage to it can cause paralysis or death.

The Novar Tiered Response Team — a unit of a nearby fire department organized to help ambulance crews prepare injured victims for transport — arrived shortly after the mishap, as did Dr. Chris Kwiatkowski, a physician who happened to live on the lake.

The ambulance, however, took a little longer. Kwiatkowski, concerned Robert wasn't going to make it if they waited any longer, ordered the Tiered Response Team to take Robert to Huntsville themselves. Normally, such teams are not supposed to do this. They are only supposed to give immediate assistance as necessary to victims, until the ambulance arrives.

Reports differ on how long it was between the time the ambulance was called and the time the doctor ordered the Tiered Response Team to move him. The ambulance service's administrator said that a vehicle from the station in Huntsville had responded to the call, and was on the way within the twelve minute standard that had been set. It was told, enroute, to return when the dispatcher was told the team was already on its way with Robert.

Novar is about 13 km from Huntsville. Robert's mother says the drive normally takes her around fifteen minutes.

She and the woman who called the ambulance say

With the heavy traffic on nearby Highway 11, the Burk's Falls Hospital emergency department treated a large number of accident victims.

they waited close to half an hour for the ambulance that day, before Kwiatkowski ordered the team to move him.

"I figured it had to be about a half an hour," says Debbie Lapere. "And I know the owner of the campground (Joy Webster, who actually called the ambulance) felt that it was at least that length of time also."

Webster had told the Almaguin News at the time, when she had called back to ask where the ambulance was, she was told that the dispatcher was still looking for a second attendant for the vehicle.

The Novar Tiered Response Team, incidentally, had been set up in anticipation of impending cuts to the ambulance service that locals feared would lengthen response times. As of the time of the accident, the public hadn't actually been told that any cuts had taken place.

But when the Lapere story broke, Vaughn Adamson, the administrator of the ambulance service which operates the stations in Huntsville and Burk's Falls, confirmed that there had been some cuts.

As of the beginning of 1994, the second-string vehicle at the Huntsville station was cut back to being staffed (with a crew sitting in it, ready to go) only during the day shift, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. During the night and graveyard shifts, no second crew was on duty or even paid to be on call. The dispatcher instead is expected to call through the list of attendants, until he gets one that is willing and able to come to the station. The one ambulance in Burk's Falls was running in much the same way at the time.

Adamson said this hadn't made a difference, because the staff agreed among themselves to cover the schedule voluntarily, and made sure there was always a crew within a certain distance of the station and near a phone at all times, just as though on call.

But Kwiatkowski, the doctor on the scene, also works in the Huntsville emergency department. And he says he'd seen similar delays before.

Urgent care and improved ambulance service lacking

Robert's mother, like a lot of people in the area, says she doesn't have a lot of confidence in the ambulance service any more. Asked if she'd do the same thing if she was ever caught in a similar situation again, she laughs somewhat ruefully.

"I guess I would still call the ambulance," she says, "but not hold my breath and wait for them to get here, that's for sure. What other options do you have though?"

Robert, she says, is now quadrapalegic. He has a little movement in his upper arms, and isn't expected to recover any more function than that.

Ray Smith and the East Parry Sound Health Care Coalition

Ray Smith, sitting in his house near Burk's Falls, says what happened to Robert Lapere should serve as a warning to anyone who lives in the Burk's Falls area.

Smith served briefly on the board created to administer the Almaguin Health Centre, the community facility established after the Burk's Falls Hospital closed. He had been vice-president of planning and development of several major health facilities, he says, in Barrie, Hamilton, and Winnipeg. Recently retired, he thought he'd be an asset to the board.

But after a year on the board, he resigned, largely out of frustration. He did not feel the board really had any power — the Ministry of Health, he says, was writing the script, and the board was just playing its part.

He resigned, and formed the coalition to lobby for better health care. Since then, he's been something of a thorn in the side, if often a helpful one, of the people working with the Ministry through more conventional channels. Eyes roll sometimes when you mention his name, but privately, many acknowledge that without Smith really raising hell, it's quite likely they'd be a lot worse off. He's bad cop to their good cop, and he knows his job. It was Smith who got the injured Robert Lapere on local television as part of a protest over the funding of the ambulance service. It is Smith, and the local reeves he has gathered around him, who go down to Queen's Park to lobby the ministry. The coalition he heads isn't wasting any time fighting among itself. The group knows what it wants, and it isn't shy about asking in a very direct, very public manner.

Smith isn't very happy with the way the ambulance service is running right now.

First of all, says Smith, there is the matter that ambulance attendants in Ontario aren't authorised to provide anything more than basic life support enroute, even though many of them are trained for more extensive care. The ironic thing about this, he says, is that there are programs in Ontario that train people for emergency medical care, and people in the province who have taken the course.

"There are over 200 recent EMC (Emergency Medical Care) graduates from two colleges who are looking for jobs," says Smith. "And where are they going? They're going to Quebec, and they're going to the states... David Peterson set up the EMC programs at Humber and one at Sir Sandford Fleming in Peterborough. The kids can't get any jobs."

In the Burk's Falls area, he says, allowing the attendants to use this training would be a big improvement. For example, if a patient vomits resulting in a blockage to their airway during the trip, the attendants aren't allowed to do any more than what anyone trained in first aid can do — try to clear it with their fingers.

"If you're going to shut down the facility," says Smith, referring to the Burk's Falls Hospital "and provide care for the sick and the injured at a more remote hospital — like Huntsville or North Bay — the very minimum you should have is that the ambulance attendants should be able to provide sustained life support until they get to that hospital that's now another half an hour down that road. That's one problem right there."

Secondly, says Smith, there is the standing order that the attendants are not to stop in Burk's Falls, regardless of circumstances — either at the hospital, when it was still open, or at the health centre that replaced it. He agrees with those who say that for most serious trauma, the patient is better off in a well-staffed trauma hospital, with a surgeon, an internist, and everything else that might prove necessary to save his life. But for some cases, he says, it could, and would, save lives to stop. Essentially, he says, the locals are being told, "We're going to let you die on the road to the hospital. To hell with you. We're not going to let you go into the Almaguin Health Centre, where there's now a physician and two (doctor's offices) right beside."

Dr. Andrew Albert, who practices in Burk's Falls is also on duty from time to time in the emergency ward at the Huntsville Hospital. He worked in the old hospital in Burk's Falls before it closed. Albert agrees, as does almost everyone, that for serious trauma, you don't mess around in small hospitals.

But when asked the question, he says he can think of the exceptions — patients who have died since the closure of Burk's Falls Hospital; and who almost certainly could have been saved, had the facility been available.

"This year," he says, "I had a long-standing patient of mine die. He had a heart condition and was transferred to Huntsville hospital. The attack was occurring as he was being transported. And before he arrived there he went into ventricular fibrillation, and then into asystole (cessation of heart beat)."

And if he'd been taken to Burk's Falls, says Albert, the facilities available at the old hospital could absolutely have saved him.

"But it depends what the condition is," he continues. "If the patient is having an MI, Myocardial Infarct, he should be given streptokinase. We didn't have streptokinase in Burk's Falls. So if that was the case, it would be a delay in treatment. For somebody who has a positive cardiogram, it would be wasted time going to Burk's Falls Hospital. They would have been better off to have someone drive them to the Huntsville Hospital."

Twice the area, half the service

The third problem Smith — and others besides him now — have with the local ambulance service is simply that there are too few vehicles, covering too large an area.

There is a study which backs him up.

After Lapere's accident, a study was done of the ambulance service in the East Parry Sound Muskoka district, by its health council.

The study looked at all the ambulance services in the region, totaled the hours of coverage, and grouped them with the populations and areas they had to serve. It also looked at average response times to various emergencies.

Then the study did the same for two other comparable regions — one on the north shore of Lake Huron, and one in the south Timiskaming area.

It concluded, when compared with these other areas, the region around Burk's Falls has about half the coverage, in terms of hours of availability of attendants.

To the credit of the crews, the study also found that response time for the services in the East Parry Sound region was in the ballpark of those for the other services. Or were at least, during the periods prior to the cutbacks at the beginning of 1994. The study, which was published in November 1994, didn't have data on response time for the period following this development.

Trauma in rural areas — Rowe, Therrien, Johnson, and Bota

There's a second study related to the issues of ambulance services and urgent care in the Burk's Falls region that Smith refers to often.

Dr. Brian Rowe, along with researchers Sandra Therrien, Cathy Johnson, and Gary Bota, the director of the emergency department at the Sudbury General Hospital, carried out a study in 1993, of trauma deaths in Northeastern Ontario.

Rowe, an emergency physician and clinical epidemiologist, works out of the Sudbury hospital as well.

"What we found," says Rowe, "and what I think is fairly consistent across the board, is that in northern remote rural areas — I've been through Minden and Haldimand and I know it can't be that much different than our own community here — we have a lot more trauma than would be expected per capita — there are more falls, more motor vehicle collisions, more sporting activities that result in injuries, and consequently, based on percentages and per capita spending, trauma becomes a bigger and more important component of your health care services."

"And if you don't recognize that," he continues, "you are going to be overwhelmed with trauma cases that can't be handled appropriately. Physicians — it doesn't matter what their training is, — as long as they know how to stabilise a trauma patient — can transfer that patient elsewhere to get suitable care. But if you don't have the capability to at least stabilise them, then you're in real trouble."

The authors speculated on a number of reasons for the higher incidence of trauma. "First, adverse environmental conditions (eg. snow, cold, etc) may create conditions that promote trauma, especially vehicular trauma. Second, there are more vehicles registered per 100,000 people and road travel is more common in northern communities, which creates greater opportunities for vehicular trauma. Third, occupational injuries may be more prevalent due to the dependence of northern economies on natural resource and agrarian industries. In addition, enforcement of laws and regulations is complicated by the remoteness of much of the region, creating the impression of immunity amongst some citizens."

"Finally," they continue, "access to pre-hospital and hospital services may be limited in such settings, creating a situation where adverse outcomes may be more common due to delayed treatments."

Abandonment?

Smith and his coalition have a way of using stronger words than those chosen by the people who are still dealing with the Ministry of Health through the more traditional channels. Smith and his group, of course have nothing to lose, and perhaps everything to gain by doing so. They have made people angry, including the drivers of the ambulance service itself, who were less than amused by the 'Call a priest' comment, used by a TV reporter describing the situation.

But the picture the coalition paints has detail. And it adds up to this:

-an epidemiologist who says the health care system should be more, not less concerned with trauma in the north than it is elsewhere.

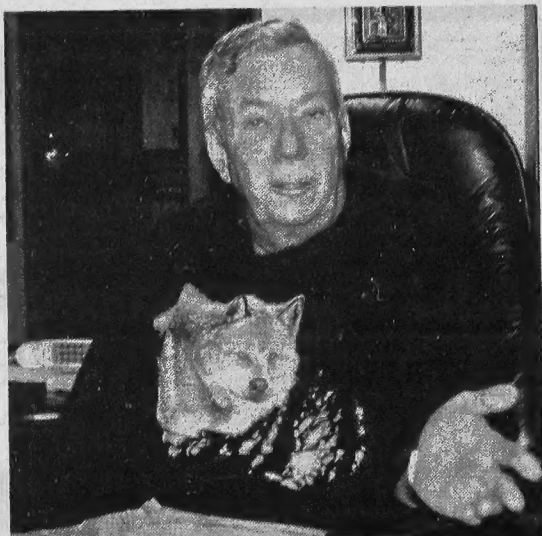

-a provincial bureaucracy and local groups that between them can manage to put a health care centre in Burk's Falls, but can't manage to provide urgent care there.

-an ambulance service spread more thinly than in either of the other areas the district health council chose to look at.

-and local doctors who say yes, this situation is putting people's lives at risk.

And when Smith says he thinks Burk's Falls has been abandoned by the people whose job it is to see that this does not happen, it's hard to argue.

Editorial

The issue that won't go away

One item which has slipped from the county perspective since the municipal election is municipal restructuring. During the November election campaign, just about everyone running for office had an opinion on the need for and value of restructuring the county's municipal government system. Most candidates suggested that if the county government did not take the task on itself, the provincial government would likely impose a "made in Queen's Park" solution.

There are already hints of that with the recent announcements coming out of the Ministry of Education. However, the provincial government, facing an election sometime this year and not wanting to rock the boat too much, has taken the traditional route of appointing a commission to look into the situation regarding the configuration of school boards in the province. It is not by coincidence that the commission will report after the provincial election dust has settled. The action does however provide an indication of how important the provincial government views the need for some action.

Granted, there have been other issues occupying the agenda of county politicians, but this is an item which needs to be dealt with early in the three year municipal term. Re-configuring the county municipal structure will require a dispassionate review, uncomplicated by an impending election. The beginning of the municipal mandate is the time to consider this serious matter.

We have stated before in this space that the current complement of municipalities in Haliburton County does little for efficient application of taxpayers' dollars. It also creates a situation where progressive thinking and action is very difficult. We wonder, for example, if, during the county budget discussions which took place last week, the importance of the Chamber of Commerce's effort on behalf of the Haliburton Highlands, might have been viewed in a different light, or if funds for "planning" would have been seen from a different perspective by a leaner county council?

While people have stopped talking about it, the need for restructuring hasn't gone away. Either the county should develop its own plan for the future or, if it chooses to ignore the issue, realize it is inviting the province to do it for them.

Going the wrong way

Editor:

I am writing concerning the recent moves to reduce the emergency service at the Minden Hospital.

I don't know if I am missing something here, but it seems to me that anyone with any knowledge of the highway system in this part of the province will realize that the Minden Hospital is closer to the larger centres of Lindsay, Peterborough or Toronto to which patients will likely be transferred after going to the local emergency department.

By closing the Minden Hospital emergency department and sending emergency cases to Haliburton, they are adding over 50 minutes (25 in each direction) plus the treatment time, to the time before the injured person can get to the bigger hospitals in the south. It doesn't make any sense to me and I wonder if it does to those who have made the decision to close the emergency department in Minden.

I should point out that Highway 35 and 121 in the Minden area are the busiest highways in the county and have the most accidents. Another reason not to remove the emergency service from Minden.

Not a woman's weapon

Editor:

I am writing this letter in response to the readers who dare to assume that emotional abuse, physical abuse, and other forms of torture are a woman's weapon against men.

Shelters and safe havens for women and children are not only a necessity, but they should have been available ever since the first caveman clubbed his mate into submission.

Women are being murdered by the "same men who have promised to "love, honour and cherish" them. Girls who want to end relationships are being beaten, if not slaughtered. Children are caught in the middle and end up being victims themselves.

Rape is an everyday occurrence. Most rapes are not perpetrated by strangers. They are committed by boyfriends, husbands, fathers, friends and others who are known to the victim. These are not "big city crimes", they happen in every community, even in Minden.

The common denominator is how the male has been raised during his formative years. If he is raised to respect the equality of the female along with the added concepts of sensitivity, self-esteem, self-discipline and compassion for others, odds are that he will be secure in his masculinity. Therefore he will not have to resort to using his fists or a lethal weapon to vent his frustration and anger to maintain his control over those people around him.

When a woman, who has no means of financial independence, decides to leave her spouse, her "income" statistically decreases to approximately 25% of what it was during her marriage. A man's income increases by the same percentage. Of course, she has to demand a fair financial settlement, not only for herself but for her children.

People lie to get out of trouble, not the reverse. Most charges of abuse are verifiable. When complaints are made, they are investigated by trained professionals. If even one complaint is not investigated, the outcome could be tragic. And being "charged" doesn't mean an automatic "guilty conviction."

Here I must rebuke Ms. Hawkins (letter, January 30) for her lack of insight into the knowledge of the subject on which she speaks. The Women's Movement and "The System" did not create Marc Lapine. He was a monster driven by his own actions and thoughts, tormented by his own demons.

Yes, Lapine was a product of a "broken home", but not every child who is raised in such an environment becomes a killer. His absent father did not force him to pull the trigger. His long-suffering mother did not instruct him to go to the Polytechnic and take out his hatred and revenge on those young women. Lapine had a choice of which path to follow. He made his decision, the results of which we all must now live with.

During the middle ages, between six and nine million people (80% of whom were women), were hanged, drowned, stoned or burned at the stake for the crime of witchcraft.

Women (Witches and their familiars) were the scapegoats for war, famine, pestilence, and plague. All women who did not submit to male authority were suspect. Women were the healers, the wise women of the village. They did not tread the straight and narrow path decreed by the church and state.

Some stood out as leaders in their communities, but the majority carried out their work in secret. The male dominated church and local political bodies had these women, and the men who defended them, declared heretics.

This period was known as the "Women's Holocaust". Generation after generation of children saw their mothers and grandmothers die a very slow and grisly, painful and public death because these women did not conform to society and the system.

Not so long ago, men were encouraged from the church pulpit to beat their wives in order to save their souls (the wives' souls not the husbands'). Women were chattels. They were the property of the fathers until they married, when the "deed" (marriage certificate) was transferred to the husband. Women had no power, authority or hope of equality.

Adolph Hitler also thought that the women's movement was a destructive element fighting against the structure of the home, family and the superiority of the male hierarchy. And we all know what a nurturing, positive force he was in the grand scheme of things.

During Hitler's reign, women's clinics and shelters were closed. All women politicians were removed from their positions of authority. Before the war, married women who worked were penalized by excessive taxation on their earnings, because they were taking jobs away from men. Women had to "prove" that they miscarried spontaneously so they wouldn't be charged with criminal abortion.

Men have had all the prerogatives and advantages for over 2500 years. Canadian women have had the right to vote in elections for less than 100 years. In 1927, (a mere 68 years ago) women finally became "persons" under the law of this country. It does not seem to be quite fair to blame females for all the failings of modern society.

Of course women are angry! It is amazing that more women are not openly joining the Women's Movement. The fight will never be over until the women and children have the inherent and undisputed right to live in freedom and peace in their own homes, without the fear of violence or the spectre of poverty hanging over their heads.

If Ms. Hawkins had done some research on her subject of support groups for men to contact regarding custody, etc., she would have discovered F.A.C.T. (Fathers Are People Too). I know they have chapters in Toronto, Brampton, and surrounding areas, (in case she is at all interested.)

And yes, there is a 1-800 number that men can call before they go crazy and over the edge: Whitby Psychiatric Hospital Admitting and Crisis Intervention: dial 1-800-263-2679. I suggest that Ms. Hawkins just start looking in the Blue Pages of the Lindsay/Peterborough telephone book for assistance. It took me only two minutes to find this number using this resource.

Bloopers: the bane of the radio announcer

I am a Radio Person. Every week I put on my cleanest T-shirt, stumble down to my radio studio and babble for an hour and a half on between spinning discs. Allow me to enumerate some of the great benefits of being a Radio Person.

1: You don't have to dress up. I mean...look at this T shirt.

2: You don't need a strong back. Even your heaviest script could weigh more than one, one and a half kilos, tops.

3: It's not a dangerous job. What are the hazards? Microphonelash? Scriptburn?

4: Your mother won't give you a hard time about being a Radio Person. True, she'd rather you had a trade, like plumbing or beating up Somalis, but at least you're warm and dry. And you're not consorting with those brazen TV hussies.

5: It's a job. Moms forgive anything that yields a regular paycheck.

There are innumerable benefits in being a Radio Person, but there are hazards too. More to the point, there is one hazard.

The Bloopers.

Bloopers are to Radio Persons what rabies is to foxes, Parizeau is to Chretien and Roseanne is to good taste.

Bloopers are the Herpes of radio broadcasting.

W o r s t

bloopers ever? Well, I'm certainly glad I'm not Harry Von Zell. Mister Von Zell was a great American radio broadcaster. Right up until the time he had to introduce the President of the United States, live on national radio.

Von Zell intoned sonorously: "Ladies and gentlemen, may I present the President of the United States, Mister Hoobert Heever."

Merv Griffin, the game show host, once all but scuppered his TV career by beginning an Exlax-sponsored show with the introduction "Well, we're off and running..."

Canadian radio types seem to have a curious affinity for the bloopers. I remember listening, slack-jawed, to the CBC announcer who encouraged his listeners to "stay stewed for the nudes".

Then there was the Ottawa correspondent who attributed a rumoured

Cabinet shuffle to "high Parliament Hill souses."

And the CBC news reader (alas, no longer with us) who signed off for the night, saying

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

"THIS...IS THE CANADIAN BROADCASTING CASTRATION!"

I always wondered where the Bloopers came from. And thanks to a writer named Richard Lederer, I finally have the answer.

Lederer is the author of a number of books — his latest is called Classroom Classics — More Anguished English. It's a compilation of linguistic bloopers committed by students at the junior high, high school and college levels.

And it proves conclusively that Bloopers have their roots in our school system.

For instance, the science student who wrote on an exam: "when you smell an odourless gas, it is probably carbon monoxide."

Or the student who advised: "There are three kinds of blood vessels: arteries, vanes and caterpillars."

Or the astronomical jade who observed: "The moon is a planet just like the earth, only dead."

And how about the biology student who asserted: "The body consists of three parts — the brainium, the borax and the abominable cavity. The brainium contains the brain; the borax contains the heart and lungs and the abominable cavity contains the vowels, of which there are five — a,e,i,o and u."

Just think...that student might be doing your hernia operation next spring.

And judging from Lederer's book, I don't think students are as sexually sophisticated as we've been led to believe.

Witness the agricultural scholar who wrote: "artificial insemination is when the farmer does it to the cow instead of the bull."

Or the undergraduate who opined: "to prevent conception, always wear a condominium."

Which I suppose could only lead to the ultimate sexual avoidance excuse:

"Not tonight dear. I have a pent-house."

Trout management plan announced

The trout management recommendations for south central Ontario have been announced by the Ministry of Natural Resources. The plan will affect 204 lake trout lakes and 23 brook trout lakes in the MNR's Bancroft District, which includes offices in Minden and Tweed, Pembroke District, the Kawagama Lake Area and selected lakes in the Muskoka Lakes Area and the Parry Sound District.

The changes are as follows:

* A winter/early spring closure will be implemented on 86 lake trout lakes and a slot size limit will be imposed on 102 lake trout lakes. These two measures will be combined on an additional 15 lakes, with a harvest moratorium being imposed for five years on one lake trout lake.

* Lake trout lakes of 100 hectares in size or smaller and lakes with small-bodied populations (lake trout normally under two kilograms, or 4.4 pounds) will be closed to angling during the winter/early spring period. The closure will be from October 1 to the Friday preceding the third Saturday in May of the next year, inclusive.

* Lake trout lakes of greater than 100 hectares, with large-bodied lake trout, will be protected by a slot size limit. Fish in the range of 40 to 55 centimetres (16 to 22 inches) in length will be protected and must be released. In addition to the slot size restrictions, anglers will be prohibited from using live bait while fishing through the ice and only one line will be permitted.

* A minimum size limit of 11 inches (28 centimetres) will be imposed on 23 brook trout lakes (21 in the Bancroft District and two in the Pembroke District). Three of these brook trout lakes will have harvest moratoriums of at least three years.

* Stocking of lake trout in lakes designated as natural reproducing will be discontinued.

Lakes that have been identified as hatchery-dependent will remain open for winter angling with no additional harvest controls. That includes 28 lake trout lakes and more than 200 brook trout lakes.

In the Haliburton Highlands and Minden South areas, 91 lake trout lakes and two brook trout lakes will be affected by either closure or slot/banning of baitfish restrictions. Only two brook trout lakes are affected.

Six lakes within this region are identified as hatchery-dependent, with no changes in regulations. They are: Lutterworth (Devil's), Monmouth, North Pigeon, Sheldon, Tedious and Wilbermere.

A total of 43 lakes in this region will be closed to winter/early spring fishing and 42 will be open, with the previously specified restrictions.

The two brook trout lakes in this region, Stocking and Slipper (both in Havelock Township) will be closed from December 1 to the Friday preceding the third Saturday of May the following year. During the open season, only artificial lures may be used -- no live bait.

Drag Lake, which has been closed for a number of years, will remain

Atom A Monarchs fare well

After finishing the regular season in third place, the Minden Monarchs atom B hockey team jumped into first place in the first round of playoffs.

The team had a record of five wins, four losses and two ties in regular season action. So far in the playoffs, two wins and two losses are good enough for first place.

In the opener against Mariposa, the Minden crew came out on top by a 3-1 margin. Brad Gauley scored twice and Jordan Campbell notched one goal and one assist. Chris Boxall helped the cause with one assist.

Minden's second game against Mariposa resulted in a 6-2 loss. Graham Neave scored the first Minden goal in that game, from Campbell. Gauley netted the second marker, with assists going to Greg Vanderlip and Anthony Wu.

The first of two games against Sunderland saw Minden blank the opposition 7-0. The Monarchs set the pace by scoring twice in the first two minutes of the game.

Gauley scored a hat trick in that game while Neave and Campbell added two each to the Monarchs' score. Neave, Campbell and Justin Walker picked up two assists each, with singles going to Vanderlip and Matt Restoule.

Minden played that game with just seven skaters and two goaltenders. The two goalies, Mark Snell and Barry Dunn, shared the shutout.

That win was the first time this season the Monarchs had beaten Sunderland. They outskated, outplayed and overpowered the opposition to earn the victory. They kept the pressure on throughout the entire game.

The rematch against Sunderland ended with a 4-2 Sunderland win.

Campbell scored both of Minden's goals, with Gauley setting them both up.

Besides the playoffs, the atom B Monarchs played an exhibition game against Bobcaygeon. It was a close, exciting game, with Bobcaygeon shading the Monarchs 4-3.

The Minden sharpshooters were Campbell, Restoule and Boxall. Campbell also had two assists, with one helper going to Boxall, Gauley and Derek Barnett (his first point of the season).

The Monarchs will participate in a round robin series to determine the championship and consolation winners.

They are also set to take part in a tournament in Bowmanville on March 13 and 14.

Small Comfort

Alcohol is a depressant drug. It won't solve your problems. To do that, you need to feel all there, not half gone. Here are some tips to turn things around.

Tip 1. Separate your drinking from your problems. An empty glass doesn't hold as much comfort as talking to someone you trust.

Tip 2. Check with your employee assistance or occupational health program for help.

Redmen hang up the skates after 5-4 loss to Crestwood

by Jerry Grozelle

A shot at the OFSAA Championship playdowns slipped through the Haliburton High School Redmen hockey team's fingers Friday afternoon.

The deciding game of the series against the Crestwood Mustangs of Peterborough saw the Redmen fall short of their goal, losing by a 5-4 margin.

Redmen coach Ron Yake said that the Haliburton team dominated the play for most of the game. But the Mustangs capitalized on a couple of bad giveaways in the third period to snatch the win away from the Redmen.

"I thought we had the better scoring chances," Yake said Friday after the game.

Bill Dovell opened the scoring for the Redmen during the first shift of the game and by the end of the second period, Haliburton still had a one-goal lead, at 4-3. Mark Morissette notched two goals and Dennis Woods added one.

After giving up the first game to Crestwood on home ice, the only home-ice loss of the season for the Redmen, the two teams met in Peterborough for game two. That game, last Monday afternoon wasn't decided after two 10-minute overtime periods. The game had to be declared a tie when the game ran out of ice time at the Kinsmen Arena. When it was called off, the game was knotted at 6-6.

The scoring was in spurts throughout the first three periods. Haliburton struck first, with a goal by Dovell a minute and a half into the game.

Crestwood netted three in a row and at the end of the first, held a 3-1 lead.

The Redmen bounced back with three in the first half of the middle frame, including two just nine seconds apart by Woods and Mark Morissette. Morissette's second of the game put Haliburton in front by a 4-3 count.

The Mustangs went on another scoring rampage and over a span of a minute and 43 seconds, added three more to the home side of the scoreboard.

Bantam A Monarchs advance

The Minden Bantam A Monarchs came up big when they needed it. Behind five points to four in a six-point series against Cannington, the Minden boys came through with a stellar performance in the sixth and deciding game of the series to eliminate the opposition in its home barn.

The Minden boys scored six consecutive goals in the second period to put the game out of reach and went on to beat Cannington 8-3.

The host team opened the scoring with 5:36 left in the first period. But Steve Ecclestone evened it up with 1:45 remaining. Wayne Kernohan assisted.

The two teams went into the second period tied, but it wouldn't stay that way for long.

HE SCORES: Redmen captain Jonathan Bishop scores the first goal of the game Thursday evening in Haliburton. The Redmen won this game but lost the next day in Peterborough. That loss ended the season for the Haliburton High School Team.

After two, Crestwood led 6-4.

Josh Burk narrowed the gap to 6-5 with 6:08 left in the third and John Henderson netted the equalizer 32 seconds later.

Woods and Burk picked up two assists apiece and one each went to Dovell, Jackie Morrison and Jonathan Bishop.

With a loss and a tie at this point, last Thursday's game was a must-win situation for the Redmen. Even a tie would have eliminated them. They came through on home ice once again, defeating the Mustangs 4-1 and setting the stage for Friday's winner-take-all showdown.

Bishop opened the scoring for the Redmen with the only goal of the first period. Morissette and Dovell assisted.

The second frame's lone goal was scored by Woods, from Tim Stouffer for a 2-0 Haliburton lead.

The Redmen went ahead 3-0 a minute and a half into the third. Woods was the sniper again, this time from Andrew McKelvey.

Crestwood got one with 6:12 left in the third, but Morissette scored the last goal of the game with 13 seconds remaining. Woods and Bishop drew assists on that one.

Coach Yake said it has been a very successful season for the Redmen.

"We only lost one home game all season," he said. "It has been my most successful season as a coach."

The Redmen won one tournament during the season and were finalists in another one.

Season ends for midget A Monarchs

by Jerry Grozelle

The hockey season has come to an end for the Minden Midget A Monarchs. North Frontenac proved too strong for the Minden boys. The Godfrey (near Kingston) team finished the best-of-five series by edging the Monarchs 3-2 in Minden on February 26.

In Godfrey, the day before, the host team skated to a 3-0 win to take a 2-0 series lead.

Minden didn't give it up without a fight. The Monarchs took a 2-1 lead in the first period of game three after Godfrey notched the opening goal at the 1:21 mark. A minute and 10 seconds later, Jeff Wray scored the equalizer, from Tom Bagshaw and Ben Crego. In another minute and 12 seconds, Minden had the lead on an unassisted goal by Monarchs' captain Dennis Woods.

The Monarchs held onto that slim margin until there was less than four minutes left in the third period. With 3:57 left, Godfrey made it a brand new game by scoring the tying goal. That goal seemed to shift the momentum in favour of the visitors. They got the go-ahead marker a minute and a quarter later.

The Monarchs were unable to recover, as the North Frontenac team held on for the win to end the series and the season for the Minden boys.

Legion bantams bow to Sunderland

by Jerry Grozelle

The Legion bantam Tier II Monarchs hockey team has been beaten by Sunderland in the league finals. But it was as much the astute manoeuvring of the Sunderland team officials as it was the talent of the team that spelled Minden's downfall.

Many of the team's parents cried foul because they claim Sunderland used members of its A division team in the playoffs.

A check with the Ontario Minor Hockey Association has revealed that what Sunderland has done was perfectly legal within the OMHA rules.

A centre only has to have six players signed to its A division team. The rest, in Sunderland's case, were signed to B division cards. So, in effect, the majority of Sunderland's A team were B players who were called up to play for the A team. It was a very clever play.... one that won Sunderland the OMHA Tier II title.

The championship final series went four games, with Sunderland winning three.

The opener was in Sunderland on February 20. The result was a 4-1 Sunderland win.

Matt Cheeseman notched the lone Minden marker, from Rod Upton and Jason Horsley.

The series came back to Minden for game two on February 23. The visitors took a 2-0 lead with a 3-1 win.

Upton's single-handed goal was the only one of the game for the Legion team.

The third game, in Sunderland on February 27, saw the Monarchs skate to a 7-4 victory. That win staved off elimination for the local boys.

They gave up the first goal of the game to Sunderland and fell behind 2-0 in the early part of the second frame. But by the end of the period, they had rebounded to tie the game at 3-3.

Each team scored once in the third, sending the game into a 10-minute overtime period. Minden scored three unanswered goals in that OT period to earn the victory.

Kirk Smith scored three times for the Monarchs, including one of the overtime goals. Cheeseman added a pair, one in the second and one in the third. The other OT marksmen for Minden were Jason Kasepчук and Upton. Kasepчук had three assists to go with his goal, with Upton, Curtis Barry and Horsley helping the cause with two each.

The crusher for the Monarchs was in Minden on February 28.

Sunderland led 2-1 and with time running out, the Minden goalie was pulled in favour of an extra attacker. The move backfired as Sunderland managed to put one into the gaping net with 45 seconds left in the third to end any chance of a Minden come-back.

Smith was the lone sharpshooter for the Monarchs, from Cheeseman.

Next registration March 22*Minor Baseball registration off to a slow start

by Jerry Grozelle

Even though it's only March, organizers of Minden Minor Baseball are getting excited about the coming season. But, after the first night of registration, it seems the players don't share that enthusiasm yet.

Only about 25 per cent of the 400-plus players from last season turned out for the registration at Archie Stouffer Elementary School on February 28.

Organizers are anxious to get T-shirts ordered so they will have them for the start of the season. Designating players to teams will have to be started soon as well.

League officials will hold another registration on Wednesday, March 22 at ASES from 7 to 9 p.m.

The divisions will include junior and senior T-ball, five-pitch, atom, squirt, pee-wee and bantam. These divisions encompass kids from four years old (as of May 1, 1995) to 16 year-olds.

Registration fees are $20 for each child or $50 for three or more from the same family.

The emphasis with this league is fun first, with just enough friendly competition to keep it interesting.

Anyone interested in coaching or helping out as an umpire should contact either Joan Duhaime at 286-4255 or Grant Shaw at 286-4240. You don't have to have youngsters playing in the league to be involved as a coach or umpire.

"Come on out and make some new friends," says organizer Joan Duhaime.

The games are played evenings during the week, leaving the weekends free for families of players to take part in other activities or weekend trips out of the area. The only exception is the annual wrap-up tournament near the end of July.

Opening of the season will be right after the May 24th weekend.

A number of lakes have been categorized as "undetermined" in regard to whether or not they are naturally reproducing Lake trout lakes. These lakes are being treated as if they are naturally reproducing.

"We're taking a conservative approach," said

Stan Flemming, Minden area MNR district supervisor. He added that the ministry's biologists have opted to consider lakes they're not sure about as potentially natural reproducing lake trout lakes until it is determined one way or other.

"We have to go by the best information we have available on a lake to lake basis," Flemming said.

Tanya Peacock, Daniel Vanderlip, Jasmine Wilson and Jennifer Wales (l to r) were the Minden Skating Club's coaches of the month sponsored by Subway Sandwiches in Minden. The two on the left were the January winners and the other two were for February.

Sid Stamp team wins tie-breaker

by Jerry Grozelle

Sid Stamp Fuels won the duel of the two undefeated teams in last week's Minden Men's Hockey Association round robin playoffs. Stamp edged Westside 7-6 to remain the only undefeated team in the playoffs with one week of the round robin left.

The showdown for sole possession of undefeated status was the second game of the night's three matchups.

Times 8, Home 3

The evening's opening game saw The Times wallop Home Hardware 8-3.

Home held a 2-1 lead at the end of the first half, but its armour fell apart in the second half. The Times scored six in a row to take over the lead at 7-2 before the Home crew got its third marker. The Times rounded out the scoring.

Jeff Howe and Ron May notched two goals apiece, with Howe assisting on three more and May setting up one. The other Times sharpshooters were Paul Mayo, Doug Schell, Corey Walker and Dwayne Warburton. Mayo helped the cause with four assists, while Walker, Schell, Paul Humber and Mark Thompson contributed one assist each.

Kent Taylor, John Ballantyne and Wyatt Nesbitt were the Home Hardware snipers with one apiece. Taylor had one assist and Kim Colliss had one.

Stamp 7, Westside 6

It was only fitting that the duel between the two top teams was a close one since these will be the two teams to tangle for the league championship.

The Stamp crew jumped into the lead with an unassisted goal by Dave Dollo.

Westside responded with two in a row to take over the lead: Dave Ross netted the equalizer, from Monty Miscio and Dave Rogers. Scott Danilko put Westside in front, with the assists going to Ross and Andy Campbell.

Before the first half was over, Stamp had scored three more to regain the lead at 4-2. Eldon Bull put the Stamp crew back on even terms, with Trini Elias and Boomer Stamp assisting. Then, Scott Nesbitt potted two in a row to give his team a two-goal advantage. Boomer Stamp assisted on one and Bern Berry set up the other one.

Westside cut the lead to 4-3 early in the second half, with a goal by Scott Hamilton. Miscio and Ross drew assists on that one.

Bull got that one back for the Stamp team, with the assistance of Dollo and Boomer.

Hamilton netted two in a row for westside, rounding out his hat trick and knotting the score at 5-5. The first of those two was unassisted and Rogers set up the second one.

Not to be outdone, Nesbitt returned the favour for Stamp, adding two to his total for the night, also earning a hat trick. Dollo helped set up both of Nesbitt's goals and Greg Hurley helped with the first one.

Danilko narrowed the gap to 7-6, scoring his second of the game for Westside, but the final buzzer sounded before either team could get another goal. Hamilton and Paul Walker assisted on the last goal of the game.

Hartwick 9, KDD 1

The late game was a blowout as Hartwick Construction pummelled Kountry Double D 9-1. Taking a 5-0 lead in the first period, Hartwick left little doubt of the outcome. Only by scoring the second-last goal of the game did KDD deny Hartwick goaltender Wade Woodman the shutout.

Clarke Craig, Dean Sisson and Gord Wood led the Hartwick scoring with two apiece, while Ivan Ingram, Jason Stamp and Andrew Burke notched one apiece. Burke also had three assists. Glenn Hall and Stamp had two helpers apiece and singles went to Ingram, Wood, Sisson, Ritchie Mills and Craig.

Steve Stewart was the spoiler for KDD, scoring the lone goal. Ben Manuge assisted.

Winter mini-putt golf tournament

Competitors vie for MacMillan Trophy

You don't have to go south to play golf in February, at least not very far south of Minden. A couple of dozen hardy golfers took part in the second annual MacMillan Mini-Putt Golf Tournament at the Kinmount Arena recently. The course included both indoor and outdoor putting "greens".

The outdoor portion was complete with the winter golfer's nemesis, the snow trap.

This event was originally started as a winter diversion by the late Don MacMillan, near his home on Crystal Lake. The event's founder was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, John McGrath Branch 441 in Kinmount. In honour of Don MacMillan's memory, some of his friends and Legion comrades decided to make it an annual Legion event. Last year's was the first.

The MacMillan Memorial includes other sporting feats, combined with golf skills. Dart throwing for accuracy, broomball, badminton, baseball, bowling and putting a golf ball into a bed pan, were among the diversions.

"Can you imagine batting a birdie into the wind?" said Eileen Sienko.

Ten two-person teams competed for the coveted

MacMillan Trophy. Howard MacMillan, son of the event's namesake, was on hand, along with Legion sports officer Glen Robertson, to make the presentations.

As it turned out, Howard MacMillan and his partner for the event, Sharon Chick, were the first place winners, with a score of 105 points. They edged out their nearest rivals, Dave Lougheed and Dave Crane by six points. Tom MacDonald and Cheryl Lafferty were the third place winners.

Most honest golfers award went to the team of Tim Henderson and Holly Lougheed.

Cheryl Lafferty won the hole-in-one prize.

The Doggie Duffer prize, donated by Norm Gilmore, was won by Ben King.

The Kinmount Legion sent out a special thanks to Tim and Sabine Henderson for organizing the event again this year. They also would like to thank the Kinmount District Lions Club, Cathy Shaw, Sharon Chick, Ben King, Bill Day, Norm Gilmore,

TROPHY WINNERS: The second annual MacMillan Masters Winter Golf Tournament was won by the team of Howard MacMillan and Sherri Chick.

Glen Robertson, as well as Alaine MacMillan, Sabine Henderson and Eileen Sienko for supplying the lunch-eon, which was served after the tournament.

Monarchs go the limit against Cannington, next round v.s. Ops corner. Ripley and Godfrey drew assists on that one, with 1:22 left in the middle frame.

Midway through the third period, the Monarchs found themselves two men shorthanded. The Cannington took a chance and pulled his goalie for a sixth attacker. That left Minden defending with three skaters against six. The ploy succeeded for Cannington and the home team added one to its side of the scoreboard.

The Cannington goalie was kept out of the net in favour of six skaters to four after that goal. But even with a two-man advantage, Cannington wasn't able to keep the Monarchs bottled up in their own end. It took just 16 seconds for Ripley to make the Cannington coach wish he hadn't gambled. That unassisted goal, into the empty net, gave Minden an 8-2 lead with seven minutes left in the third period.

The home team managed to score one more, with 3:27 seconds left, but that was as close as the game would get.

Ashley Walker played a strong game between the Minden pipes, coming up with some key saves.

With that series under their belts, the Minden boys will face Ops in the next round.

Game one of that series was played at the Ops Arena last Thursday night. The home side came out on top by a 3-0 score.

The second game was slated for Sunday in Minden. Game three will be in Ops this Thursday at 7:15 p.m. Then, it's back to Minden Saturday, March 11 for a 6:30 p.m. game and to Ops the next day for a 5:30 p.m. match-up. If the two teams remain tied after the fifth game, the decider will be in Minden on Tuesday, March 14 at 7 p.m.

Ensembles place second in competition

by Misty Bennett, HHSS student reporter

On Thursday, February 23, twelve students travelled from HHSS to Toronto to compete in the Toronto Kiwanis Music Festival.

Kiwanis is a service organization which hosts music competitions throughout the year in various cities. The provincial and national competitions are scheduled for this summer.

Due to our limited means, "students must travel outside the county to participate in anything," admits high school music teacher, Mr. Regina.

There were two groups participating: the flute choir, boasting eight members and the clarinet quartet. These students competed as groups only, there were no individual competitors. Regina notes the school's location has an impact on participation. "Applications must be in months ahead of time and there is no guarantee that classes will coincide with each other, making it difficult to arrange transportation (school bus)."

Both groups were competing against one other group in their category. Prizes are awarded on the basis of marks. A minimum of eighty percent is required just to place; therefore, it is entirely possible for a group to not place even if they are the only ones entered in a category.

Both the clarinet quartet and the flute choir placed second in their respective categories. Both received marks of eighty-three percent, which, as Regina states, "is a really good finish in a competitive festival." The first placed groups received marks of eighty-five percent.

Thursday afternoon the students performed in a warm-up concert for a Toronto private school. They also attended a lecture given by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra's conductor. The early Thursday evening lecture provided the students with information on that night's performance of Peer Gynt, narrated by Christopher Plummer at the Roy Thompson Hall. "Both groups are working on arrangements of some of the music from Peer Gynt, so this was an excellent opportunity," Regina said.

The students were accompanied by three mothers and a sister of one of the band members.

The group will be competing in the Peterborough Kiwanis Music Festival on April 20. Good luck to the members of the ensembles in the competitions.

Barely started, ski season rapidly coming to an end

-submitted-

A little more than a month remains in the 1994-95 version of a ski season. Some would argue that it has barely started, so how could it possibly be nearing the end?

Although conditions have been marginal at times, for the die-hard skier, there have been trails that have maintained surprisingly good conditions, despite the wrath of Mother Nature.

For an up-to-date list of trail conditions, you can call one of the resorts in the area where you wish to ski, or the Haliburton Nordic Trails office at 457-1640.

To make up for lost time, or rather skiing, the Haliburton Nordic Trails will be offering night skiing 5 to 9 p.m. seven nights a week at Glebe park, as long as conditions allow. If you have never tried skiing at night, or at Glebe Park for that matter, now is the perfect opportunity. Ski Club members or valid day pass holders can ski free. Otherwise, passes can be purchased at one of the local resorts.

Glebe park is located just outside the village of Haliburton on Harmony Road.

Sporty's about to turn 40!

"TURN YOUR CRANK"

We did. The revolutionary NEW FOREMAN 400 features a unique engine, the crank is sideways. Well, actually it's placed lengthwise in the frame, but we refer to it as sideways.

SIDEWAYS FOR:

- A more direct efficient transfer of power
- No 90° bevelled gears to put 15% more power to your wheels
- New low RPM lock up clutch
- New more aggressive tires
- All new gas shocks for a smoother ride
- New front suspension for lighter feel to the steering
- Bigger, more powerful yet agile and lighter in weight than comparable models.

child care forum of haliburton county

needs you...

who are we?

... a volunteer planning body that supports families by promoting quality child care.

what we do?

... this year we will continue with our plans for the development of training workshops for child care staff including independent caregivers; distribute a quarterly newsletter and other press packages; develop a slide presentation and complete a community wide child care needs assessment.

how can you help?

... only you as a parent using child care or a caregiver providing child care can really know what our child care needs and priorities are ... you can help assure that affordable and accessible child care will be available when needed. Mileage and child care expenses will be reimbursed.

how can you reach us?

... call Margaret Johnston Jones or Sue Grieves at 457-2309.

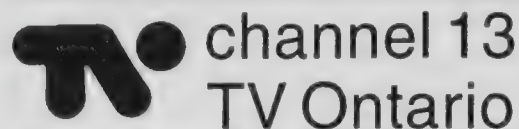

The Child Care Forum of Haliburton County is a sub-committee of the Social Action Committee.

Senior League

by Donna Wallace

This week started out with fitness, fitness, fitness. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday morning. It is so important to keep the residents active and try to get their heart rates up with aerobics.

Under the direction of Doris and her assistant Janice Rachar, they manage to do just that. They march, bat beach balls around and play hula hoop.

Tuesday morning Rev. Davis delivered the message. Doris played the organ accompanying the hymns. A memorial service was held in memory of Charles Welch who passed away February 13. In the afternoon the residents were working on tying the quilt and marking St. Patrick's Day decorations.

Wednesday afternoon the folks played bingo and crokinole. Frieda Hulbig, Janice Rachar and Mabel Deacon helped the residents. Thanks ladies.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Allsaw Pentecostal church served tea. They had a birthday cake in honour of those who had February birthdays. One of the ladies played piano and the ladies sang hymns. Thank you for your thoughtfulness.

Friday morning was serviette folding again. In the afternoon the Grandfathers Four entertained at Happy Hour. There was a good turn out of residents, family and friends. A fun time was had by all.

Saturday was a free day here, something that is very unusual at Highland Crest.

Sunday, Estella Burch continued with her reading to the residents. Rev. John Burgess delivered the message at Sunday evening chapel service.

I would like to mention the tuck cart. Each morning, ladies from the auxiliary take the cart around to the residents' rooms. They are able to purchase treats, notions, greeting cards, etc. Thanks ladies.

Sometimes we take the kitchen staff for granted, but if it weren't for those folks we wouldn't be able to have wonderful dinners like the Valentine dinner a few weeks ago. Thanks for the delicious meal ladies. It was really appreciated by residents, family and their friends. Hats off to the kitchen staff under the direction of Llyn Shirley.

Congratulations to Cyrille DeLang who celebrated a birthday this past week.

Our sincere sympathy to the family of the late Lorne Fry. Lorne passed away in his sleep on February 21.

Until next time, keep well and happy.

Cellular safety

If you use a cellular phone in your vehicle remember:

- Make sure your phone is positioned where it is easy to see and easy to reach. Become knowledgeable about the operation of your phone.

- Use the speed-dialling feature to program frequent calls. You may also want to program the number of your local police and fire departments.

- Dial only when stopped. Wait for a traffic light, or a stop sign or safely pull off the road. Better yet, have a passenger dial.

- Never take notes while driving. Carefully pull off the road if you must take notes.

Be a cellular Samaritan. Report crimes in progress, accidents and other emergencies to the proper authorities.

This message is brought to you from the Canada Safety Council.

The joy of washing dishes

The 20th century promised that technology and machines would free us to enjoy more leisure and quality time. But often we end up on a treadmill, slaves to the demands of telephones and voice mail, computers, fax machines, television and the VCR.

In the flush of early love, I vowed to my wife that I would always wash the dishes. Twenty-three years later, I still keep that pledge, especially on holidays at the cottage. There, away from television, newspapers and the telephone, life slows and follows nature's rhythms. But dishes still have to be washed and that often consumes a lot of time.

What my family doesn't know is that I actually ENJOY doing the dishes! Even with the delights of the forest, beach and ocean, the rituals of keeping the cottage in shape provide pleasure. The dish-washing routine permits the mind to disconnect from the task and roam as it pleases. And it is satisfying to transform a mess into a sparkling kitchen, however transitory that may be. Adair Lara writes in Coming Home to Ourselves (Simple Living, Winter 1995) "My mother used to wash our clothes in a wringer washer then hang them on the line. As she pinned up each garment, she said she thought about the child it belonged to. (It was a wonder she knew, there were seven of us kids.) She never wanted a dryer, even after we could afford one, because it would steal this from her, this quiet contemplation."

"I am just as busy or busier, than my mother was, with the job and kids and my projects. But it's a different kind of busy-ness, a faster, jerkier one, getting one task over with and then on to the next. Thirty years after I watched my mother hang out the wash, I carry the laundry to the basement and toss in the clothes, switching them in a wet clump from washer to dryer. I am doing what she did, drying the family clothes but not getting as much satisfaction from it."

The problem is, of course, that we all know we ought to slow down and take time, as we say, to "smell the roses". But it's not that easy, given the way we live. Lara tells us: "I get caught up, like a swimmer in a pool full of floating junk, meet deadlines, throw a load in the washer, call back a friend, and then think, later, that I must have sounded rushed and unfriendly when that's not how I felt at all. I fax the mail, scissor open instant meals, answer the phone while wiping off the breakfast table."

Of course back in the days of horse and buggy, life was slower and simpler. But have our modern accessories liberated us? Not according to Lara: "Now we prowl supermarket aisles in search of minute meals, rinse out panty-hose while we're in the shower, and wear jogging gear to the manicurist so we can take a 20-minute run while our nails dry. One woman told me, 'I live by lists and scribbled notes on little yellow post-its stuck around my house and even in my car. My home is always messy, the clean laundry is always heaped on the ping-pong table waiting to be folded and put away, the yard is filled with weeds and I make dinner quickly and leave it on the kitchen counter for my kids and husband to eat whenever they're home and passing through the kitchen. I wonder what I'm hurrying for.'"

Lara reminds us that 20 years ago the average person with a full-time job worked 138 fewer hours than we do now. She is a columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle and once wrote: "Where in all this hurry, do we find the quiet satisfaction of daily life that we once took for granted? When do we stop and start being?" When she asked her readers for their version of her mother's hanging out the wash, she was swamped with mail. Just as I enjoy dishwashing, many wrote of the pleasure of doing the routine: "They write letters in longhand though they have computers...One woman rubs leather shoes with mink oil until they shine, while thinking of the places the shoes have taken her...They plant camelia bushes, dance with the kitchen towel, or shovel the driveway while the snowblower sits in the garage."

Many seek a quiet time, a stolen moment to be alone away from the crush of demands: "A mother decides to wait in the car during her son's guitar lesson rather than try to hit the bank, gas station, post office and supermarket and be back in an hour. A woman with grown grandchildren finally found time to watch a leaf fall all the way from the tree to the ground. Others like me, are just learning how, just beginning to sample the powerful religion of ordinary life, of freshly mopped floors and stacked dishes and clothes blowing on the line. The way to slow down in a hectic world is not to find even more ways of saving time, but to look for ways to spend it."

Acid rain report

The following report on acid precipitation was recorded at the Ministry of Environment and Energy site near Dorset.

This report covers the period February 20 to February 28:

Feb 23. 2.7 cm of snow with a pH of 4.3

Environmental damage to lakes and streams is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH readings of less than 4.7. pH readings less than 4.0 are considered serious.

Horticulturists plan visit to Toronto show

The Minden and District Horticultural Society is planning a bus trip to the Canadian Garden and Flower Show for Thursday March 30. The show is being held at the Toronto International Centre on Airport Road..

We have been told that there will be over 200 exhibitors with everything from seeds and bulbs to garden tools and furniture. Among the highlights of the show are: the Ontario Horticultural Association's plant and flower competition; theme garden displays; children's gardening area; and seminars (which are included in the entry fee.)

The seminars cover a variety of topics and are scheduled throughout the day. Among the topics are: what's new for '95; perennials in a shady garden; landscaping with unusual and dwarf plants; a guide to exotic bulbs and more.

Everyone is invited to join the trip, but participants must be registered by Tuesday March 21. The cost is $50 which includes the bus trip, entrance to the show and dinner at the Red Carpet Inn in Lindsay. The bus will leave Minden at 8 a.m., and return at 8 p.m.

Registrations should be mailed to the Minden & District Horticultural Society, Box 96, Minden. For more information contact Jean Robson at 286-2732 or Lynn Hancock at 286-3242.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

There, I was wrong again, as those working on the Cross Country Ski Trail were Gwen Cox, Ivan Ingram, Joe Rivers and Len Thornette. Guess its time for me to be replaced! ANY TAKERS???

Dorothy McElwain had her son Trent from Pickering visiting her last weekend.

Kit Schroter was away enjoying a visit with her brother and sister-in-law in Lakefield.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Sylvia Howard, Nora Crego, Roy Kernohan, Garnet Lee, Fern Evans, Norm Shivas. Sympathy also to Mimi Carson on the death of her sister and to Helen Burton on the death of her sister Mrs. Alexander Alton.

Weekend visitors with Bob and Audrey Vick were Bill, Julie and Meighan Woolfrey of Bridgenorth and Dale and Tyler Vick from Vandorf.

Winners at Club 35 euchre games for February 27 included Garth Windsor with most lone hands, Helen Windsor and Ivan Kernohan with the highs, Barb Robitaille, Bill Kleinschmidt and Jean Randell. Next Wheels to Meals is March 13 at 12 noon.

Mary Cox, Ken and Carol Cox and girls were away visiting with Jack and Ethel Cowan and the Reg Cox family in Phelpston.

Happy "Half Century" birthday greetings to an extremely shy Di, Westline Road, Gelert from us "Snowdon Girls" on March 9.

Dorothy McElwain visited Mike, Maureen Josh and Dan McElwain in Millbrook and enjoyed the boys' hockey game.

Some birthdays at Hyland Crest with good wishes to all: Thomas Brown and Gordon Kent both on March 5, Fern Welton March 11 and Edith Luke on March 29.

Grenville Schrader of Oakville enjoyed a visit with the Bob Vick's recently.

We note that Pat Clarke has moved into The Terrace and we all welcome him and hope he will participate in some of our activities.

Winners at the weekly euchre games held February 23 at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 636 included Marg McAfee and Murray McKinnon with most lone hands, Mary Wilson and Bill Kleinschmidt with the high scores, Helen Skelding, Marie Dennie, Marg McAfee, Marg Coulter, Truman McNeil and Vi Dredge.

All good wishes to Mervin Gilbert who is very ill at present.

Bid euchre game winners at Legion

Senior group held February 28 included Bev Johnston with a moonshot while others were Irene Fuhr, Jack Chilton and Mary Wilson.

Winners at Stanhope bridge games also on February 28 were Moira Gillette, Helen Rice and Morris Hansen.

The Minden and District Horticultural Society will meet Tuesday, March 7 at 7:30 p.m. in Hyland Crest Auditorium. Guest speaker Paul Heaven will present movies on environmental camping in the Northwest Territories: How to leave the wilderness unchanged after a camping experience.

At the weekly bid euchre games in Stanhope on March 1, moonshots went to Betty Matthews and Bill Menard while other prizewinners included Muriel, Jean Scadden and Lottie Ruttan, Neil Griffin, Bill Menard and Bill Matthews.

Euchre game winners at Gelert Centre on February 28 included Bessie Burk, Liv Andersen, Earl Schellenberg, Isa Hillier with lone hands going to Truman

McNeil and they welcome everyone with the next games there March 14 at 7:30 p.m.

We have very little snow at present, but the roads and highways are bare so travelling is great except for snowmobiles. We notice the snow machines in town still travel on the sidewalks - guess they don't read signs.

My daughter Muriel and Randy Duncan from Scarborough visited last week and we enjoyed lunch at the Legion and a visit with Hazel Sears and Bill and Angela McKay and also saw the snow machines flying over the open water at The Narrows in Dorset.

Yvonne Guida's eldest grandson Richard Paul and Julie Davies were married at Beverley Minster Cathedral, England on Saturday last. It was a lovely service and afterwards the guests gathered at a reception at The Grange Park Hotel, Willerby. The happy couple are staying at The Matterhorn and upon their return will reside in Lucerne, Switzerland.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LUTTERWORTH PUBLIC NOTICE

File # SR-7/94

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Municipal Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth, proposes to enact a by-law to stop up, close and convey to the abutting property owners a portion of the original allowance for road set out and described as follows:

FIRSTLY: ALL and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Lutterworth, in the County of Haliburton and being composed of part of the original sixty-six foot shore road allowance along the shore of Gull Lake, lying in front of Part of Lot 20, Concession 10, and being more particularly described as Part 1 on a Plan deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of the County of Haliburton as Plan 19R-6011.

THE PROPOSED BY-LAW will come before the said Council for consideration at its Regular Meeting to be held at the Municipal Office, located three miles south of Minden on Highway #35 on the 23rd of March, 1995, at the hour of 7:00 p.m. and at that time, the Council will hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor or agent any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Lutterworth this 13th day of February, 1995.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Norah Lee would like to thank everyone who helped and supported us in our time of need. We would like to thank our friends and neighbours for their floral tributes, memorial donations, sympathy cards and all the food sent to our homes. These tributes in memory of Mom, will always be remembered. A special thank you to Dr. Lauwers for his patience and support and Sue Henderson, Mom's homemaker. Thanks to all the V.O.N.'s who helped during Mom's illness and a special thanks to Judy Webb, from Nancy for your patience and understanding. Thank you Mary Chynoweth for being there when Mom needed you and for always remembering her. Also thank you to Reverend Dave Campbell, Peter Rea and to the Ladies Auxiliary of Norland and to Dwaine Lloyd of the Coboconk Community Funeral Home for your kindness and support.

The Lee Family.

On behalf of the Haliburton County Chapter of Heart & Stroke, I would like to thank all those responsible for making the Jump Rope for Heart Event at Archie Stouffer Elementary School so successful. To Eva Griffiths, the gym teacher who arranged, organized, ran and created an enthusiastic atmosphere; to Betty Marks her assistant; to Estella Burch who took over in my absence; to the volunteers Ruth Gorrie, Edna Morgan, Edith McArthur, Bea Berry, Morris Duff and Lloyd Johnson; to David Dollo of Minden IGA and Glen Sharpley of Sharpley Sports for refreshments and especially to all our young participants - a Big THANK YOU!

Sincerely Ernice Warder.

To all my friends, neighbours and especially my family, I am so grateful for your prayers, support and love. Happy to be home again, Al Stott.

CARDS OF THANKS

The Rotary Club of Minden wishes to thank the merchants on Main Street for their generous support in allowing us to display "Rotary's 90th Birthday" in their windows: Paul Borczak Highlands Ceramics; Paul Heffer, Minden IDA Drug Store; Paul Lowe, Financial Concepts; Don Hall, Floyd Hall Insurance; Bill Roodenburg Real Estate.

IN MEMORIAM

MASON, Pearl - In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother taken from us February 28, 1992. Though tears in our eyes do not glisten, And our faces are not always sad, There is never a night or morning, But we think of the mother we had. Not a day do we forget you, In our hearts you are always here, Beautiful memories are treasured ever, Of happy days when we were together. For we loved you and miss you As it ends another year. Sadly missed by John and family.

MASON, Tressa - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away January 11, 1992. She left us quietly, Her thoughts unknown, But left us a memory We are proud to own; So treasure her Lord In your garden of rest; For when on earth She was one of the best. Her presence we miss, Her memory treasure, Loving her always, Forgetting her never. Sadly missed by John and family.
